Mission of the DigitalESL Collaborative

The DigitalESL Collaborative sees digital technology as a means for empowering all East St. Louis metro area residents to build and sustain a healthy, livable community. We see a team of technology-savvy people who are well connected to each other and to different kinds of opportunities in the region and around the world. Through technology, all citizens will have easy access to learning opportunities, economic opportunities, and resources for better living. Information technology will become part of daily life and expand peoples' thinking and their awareness of these possibilities.

To join the DigitalESL Collaborative, for more information, or to add a site to this map, contact: Cathy Klump at the Neighborhood Technical Assistance Center, 348R Collinsville Avenue, East St. Louis, IL , (618) 271-9605.
